

ATTENTION!

The L.BOX application was created in 2017 and has evolved until 2019. We wanted it to be as ergonomic and user-friendly as possible. We have done everything to make the installation process automatic and hassle-free. Unfortunately, this previous installation method is no longer supported by the Google Playstore.

Therefore, we have provided you with an alternative method of installing the application that was previously available on the Playstore.
The app is now available at this link:

<https://app.lacme.com/apk/269.apk>

Scanning the QR code with your smartphone or typing the link into the browser on your phone will allow you to download and install the application. During this process, you should accept the installation of the application from a source other than the Playstore.
